Pedagogical contents

Target group/Expected profile	The course is open to university professionals involved in the management of Erasmus+ projects, either technical staff of international offices or Erasmus+ project coordinators.
Language requirements	The program will be held in English
Selection criteria	Participants will be selected by University of Cádiz based on: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Experience on Erasmus+ projects • Position at the University • Willingness to share project experiences during training
Description of the virtual component	Online session to get to know the profile and background in Erasmus+ project management/coordination of the participants and identify hot topics to be treated and resolved during the physical component
Objectives and Description	To improve the management of Erasmus+ projects in order to increase their sustainability and impact on society through training in innovative management methodologies and sharing good practices.
Methods and outcomes	We will present and discuss innovative methodologies for project management. As a result, we will have better tools to carry out better projects, and we will help to increase the network of universities working on common projects.
Added value compare with existing courses	At a time when the rules of the European Commission for project management and justification have changed, it is necessary to establish spaces for sharing innovative methodologies and good practices among colleagues.
