

Welcome to the third Staff Training Week for librarians at Aix-Marseille University!

Aix-Marseille University Libraries and International Relations Office are delighted to announce that we will be hosting our third Staff Training Week for Librarians in June 2024!

We place much faith in the value of meeting partners and sharing experiences. We hope that this event will serve to strengthen collaboration and consolidate the links we have with all our partner institutions.

For Whom?

The programme is designed for library professionals with various backgrounds, working in academic libraries or other research-oriented libraries with interest in sharing ideas, benchmarking practices and networking with international colleagues.

The number of participants is limited to 15.

Priority will be given to librarians from the CIVIS alliance.

When?

The staff week will take place from the morning of Monday, June 17th to Friday, June 21st 2024 at noon.

Preliminary Programme:

The language of the programme is English.

The programme (still in the planning phase) will consist of presentations by both the hosting team in Aix Marseille University and the participants for the week. There will also be visits to selected libraries. The themes covered during the staff Library week will include (but may not be limited to): teaching information literacy skills, library spaces and service design, special collections, open science.

Please find below an example of the preliminary programme.

Costs: Accommodation and travel costs to and from Marseille are to be covered by the participants. Aix-Marseille University will provide lunch every day.

How to Apply?

The complete application should include a motivation letter, the applicant's resume/CV and a short paragraphe on the topic the applicant could present during the week.
